State gives 'go ahead' to Madison school; call bids

The Illinois Capital Development Board has given final approval to a proposal to build a $3 million middle school in Madison, clearing the way for two bid calls in September.

Word that the development board had cleared favorably its 100 per cent review of plans for the school construction was given the Madison Board of Education Thursday night.

School Superintendent John Palchiff said the state board's approval of the project assures a 70 per cent grant by the state. The local share will be financed by a $800,000 bond issue approved by Madison School District voters in September 1978.

Henry Gabriel, architect for the Madison school project, said bids are being called for Sept. 13 for all mechanical phases of the work: plumbing, heating, ventilating, electrical, and for food service equipment, fixed equipment and carpeting.

The bids will be opened by the Capital Development Board at the State Office Building, Springfield, at 11 a.m.

That bid call will be followed by another for general construction on Sept. 20, also at 11 a.m. in Springfield.

Specifications are available at Gabriel's offices, 1930 Cleveland Blvd. The new building will contain 72,900 square feet of area including classrooms, administrative offices, industrial arts, library, music, food service and cafeteria and gymnasium, Gabriel said.

Plans for construction of a new middle school, which will serve grades 6, 7 and 8, have been in the making since 1974 after overcrowding at the Madison Junior High School forced the use of "split shifts" to accommodate all students.

The new school is to be built on Caine Drive east of Farish Street in the Maers Industrial Park, about three blocks north of Madison High School.

The tract was purchased from the city of Madison at a cost of $100,000 after a survey indicated there were no other adequate sites, with proper utility connections, available.

Tentative plans call for the present junior high school to be razed after the new one is built and the area perhaps converted to a park.

The existing split program in the junior high school has been considered undesirable from the standpoint of educational effectiveness. It has continued for several years.

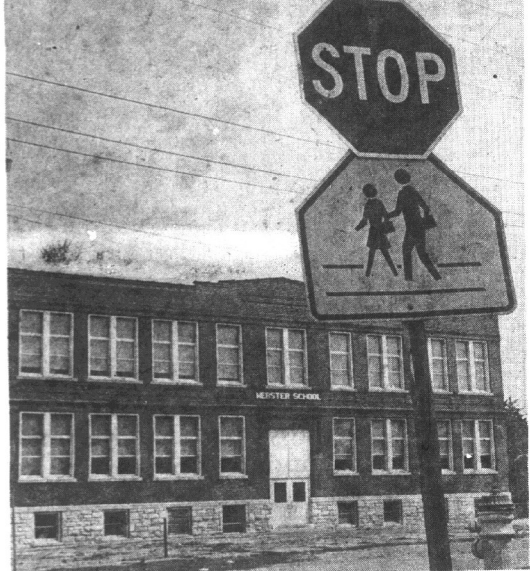

Gabriel said that the state board's approval of the 100 per cent review of planning and design for the school climaxed two years of work in which the school district was required to obtain approval of the school project in a series of separate phases.

He said planning approvals had to be acquired at the 25 per cent and then the 50 per cent levels. He said after the district submitted its plans for the 100 per cent review — the final stage — a number of changes was suggested by the Capital Development Board.

After these changes were made the board notified the district that it had approved the final stage of planning and that funds for the school would be made available.

Palchiff said Friday that the new school is expected to contain facilities for special education classes and for accommodating handicapped children.

He said a regional meeting on a new federal law providing equal education facilities to all handicapped children is scheduled in Collinsville Sept. 14. He said it is possible the requirements under the new law could have some effect on the design plans of the new school.

MOTORISTS BE ALERT. Quad-City area schools will open their doors Wednesday and Thursday to begin new school terms. The 1977-78 school year will get in full swing Friday as all public schools begin full-time classes. Motorists should be especially alert at school crosswalks marked with the sign seen here, as large numbers of children will be using them for the first time since the closing of school last spring. In the background is Webster School, 25th and Kate Streets, one of sixteen grade schools in Granite City.

Endorsement impact varies

(22nd in a series on politics in Madison County)

How much impact do news media have on the outcome of political campaigns? It varies considerably.

No Madison County newspaper endorsed the incumbent sheriff three years ago but he won with relative ease. Few papers seem likely to back him next year, either, and the outcome could be different than in 1974. An independent, Emil Telfant, currently is favored to win.

No newspaper in this county has ignored the current federal investigation of deputies' allegations, but only the Edwardsville Intelligencer reported being cut off from some of the news flow at the sheriff's office.

A tentative agreement between the teachers union and the Board of Education was reached shortly before noon today. The teachers will meet at the Labor Temple at 10 a.m. Tuesday to vote on the proposal.

The negotiating team of the Granite City Board of Education and representatives of Local 734, American Federation of Teachers, were meeting this morning in an effort to agree on terms of a new contract before the opening of schools Thursday.

B. J. Davis, superintendent of schools, said there were no indications that schools will not open as scheduled on Thursday.

A series of negotiating sessions have been held since early spring to draft a new working agreement.

Madison man robbed

A Madison man was assaulted and robbed at gunpoint at 1:50 a.m. Sunday, while walking on Washington Avenue at 10th Street in Madison.

Bobby Gail Setzer, 47, of 1025 Washington Ave., said two men came walking toward him and, as they met, one displayed a revolver with a long barrel.

Setzer grabbed at the gun and the second man got behind him and struck him on the head with a wooden object. The blow knocked him to the ground.

One man telling him to "roll over" were the only words he recalled being spoken.

Setzer was found lying in the street bleeding from a head wound by a passerby, who took him to the Madison Police Department.

The injured man's wallet, containing $15, his Medicaid card and other papers, and a gold watch were taken by the robbers.

Setzer was admitted at St. Elizabeth Hospital with a cut to the head and abrasions to the right arm.

Shots damage five vehicles

Five vehicles in Madison and Venice were damaged by gunshots in incidents reported Saturday to police departments in the respective communities.

James Massie, 94 Lee Wright Homes, Venice, said the windows of his 1972 Cadillac were shot out while the vehicle was parked at Weaver and Douglas streets.

Madison County Deputy Sheriff Tom Hammond, 624 Mercedia Ave., Venice, said two shots were fired into a window and door of his 1969 Dodge.

Bullet holes were found in the doors and windshield of a 1976 station wagon, owned by John Robinson, 413 Mercedia Ave., Venice, while it was parked at the Garesche Homes in Madison.

Erma Savage, 45 Garesche Homes, had the windshield smashed on her van by a bullet, and a 1971 Pontiac, owned by Mary Foster, 44 Garesche Homes, Madison, also was damaged by gunshots.

Two injured in Rt. 162 crash

In an accident at 3:20 a.m. Sunday at Highway 162 and State Aid 38, two Granite City men suffered head injuries and were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Chuck Funderbunk, 18, of 2214 Nevada Ave., had x-rays taken and was transferred to Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital, St. Louis.

Danny Collins, 17, of 2240 Nevada Ave., who struck his face and right knee and sustained an injury to his head, was x-rayed and treated before being released. He was a passenger in an auto driven by Laura Collins, 32, of Kansas City, Mo.

Madison Lions plan building

Tentative plans for construction of a 40,000 foot building in the 900 block of Madison Avenue were discussed Thursday evening at the meeting of the Madison Lions Club at the Amvets Home in Madison.

The Lions own property in the block and the building will be a concrete block construction estimated to cost about $50,000.

Lion President Emmett Pizala reminded the members that reservations for the groups ladies' night are to be made with Lion Al Hudzik no later than Monday, Aug. 29.

The Madison Lions are planning to hold the Ladies' night dinner at the Fairmount race track.

Shoot at train crew

After a crew of a train reported they had been shot at while crossing the Merchants bridge highline at the Venice riverfront level at 3:35 a.m. Friday, agents of the Terminal Railroad caught three men and a woman on the levee.

Railroad agents said they went to the levee below the Highline after the train crew reported shots being fired at them while traveling from the Madison yards to North St. Louis.

The agents allegedly found the quartet in a parked vehicle with a .22 caliber revolver and nine live rounds under the driver's seat.

A box of 22 caliber ammunition was found in the glove compartment. A box of 25 caliber ammunition also reportedly was in the auto vehicle.

Venice police were summoned to the scene and arrested Chris Robin Norman, 31, of 2578 Washington Ave. He was charged with unlawful use of a weapon and not having a Firearm Owners Identification card.

Another Granite City man, 21, and woman, 23, and a Robertsville, Mo., man, 20, were released.

Steel imports—lost sales, jobs

(First of a series)

The issue of steel imports is important to the Quad-City and U.S. economy.

In 1976, over 14 million tons were imported, accounting for over $4 billion of trade flow and representing 14 per cent of the consumption of steel in the U.S.

The increasing market share taken by steel imports is a great concern to the American steel industry. The imports represent lost sales for the producing companies and lost jobs for steelworkers.

It is reasonable to assume that steel executives and steel workers would be concerned about any level of steel imports. The rest of the economy, however, could benefit from some steel imports, since one of the basic tenets of the U.S. economy is that competition, including foreign-produced goods, will result in the best allocation of our resources. This is achieved in theory through the working of a free and open market.

Theory also argues that the market works well to allocate resources well when prices reflect the full costs of production, including an adequate return on equity.

If some producers are able to maintain protected prices in their home market while using lower prices to displace competition in the export market, the resulting market shares are undesirable for the importing country.

More specifically, if imported steel is sold in the U.S. at less than average costs during periods of excess capacity and a substantial market share is obtained by foreign producers, two outcomes can be expected in periods of tight supply:

Prices will be substantially increased and the amount of steel provided by foreign producers will be reduced.

Both of these outcomes occurred in the 1973-1974 steel market. And both of these outcomes are undesirable for the entire American economy.

Thus, the possibility of such outcomes in the future must be considered by public officials when they review current trade practices, steelworkers and their employers agree.

Pelton gets three years

Lloyd Pelton, 45, who said he resides in Granite City, was sentenced to serve two concurrent three-year prison terms and Mrs. Pat Rich, 50, St. Louis, was sentenced to 10 years in prison by U.S. District Judge H. Kenneth Wagelin in St. Louis Friday.

The two were charged with prostitution-related crimes, including transporting women from St. Louis to Nevada to work in a house of prostitution.

Mrs. Rich was found guilty Aug. 4 of two counts of conspiracy to violate the Mann Act, three counts of violating that act and two counts of transporting women by common carrier in interstate commerce.

The sentences pronounced for the seven counts totaled 30 years, but most were concurrent instead of consecutive, so her prison sentence totals 10 years.

Pelton was found guilty of conspiracy to violate the Mann Act and transporting women in interstate commerce by common carrier.

Both Pelton and Mrs. Rich indicated they intend to appeal their convictions by a jury which studied testimony from several persons, including two women who said they served as prostitutes for Mrs. Rich and were sent to Chicago and Nevada for prostitution purposes.

Driver hurt in 3-vehicle crash

A three-car collision on Niedringhaus Avenue at Edison Thursday resulted in injuries to one driver.

Police said auto operated by Roger Pemberton, 66 Holiday Mobile Park and Karen M. Winters, 38 Del Rio Drive, were halted for a traffic signal light when a pickup truck driven by Chester Barton, 1634 Sycamore St., struck the Winters car, pushing it into the Pemberton vehicle.

Baron said his brakes were defective and he was unable to stop in time.

Miss Winters, 21, struck her head in the mishap and suffered pains in the back. She had x-rays taken at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was treated and released.

12 children in bus escape injury

Twelve children, ages 14 to 16, in a Calvary Baptist Church bus escaped injury as the bus and the station wagon of Frances Gennair, Jennings, Mo., collided at Nameoki Road and Amos Avenue Saturday morning.

Both vehicles were southbound when the station wagon stopped suddenly to discharge a passenger and the bus, driven by Stephen Stanford, 3117 Willow Ave., struck the rear of the station wagon. No one was injured.

National Safety Council statistics show Illinois motorists were involved in over 500,000 accidents last year, almost one per minute, and more than reported in any other state in the nation. Only Texas with 468,696 came close. Massachusetts drivers may be the worst of all because their accidents cause more property damage, the council said.

The plant, to have been located at New Athens, would have been the nation's first, large-scale plant for demonstrating coal conversion to gas and oil. The project was killed by the Energy Research and Development administration on June 15.

The resignation of Illinois Commerce Commission Chairman Marvin Lieberman was accepted Thursday by Gov. James R. Thompson, who expressed appreciation for his 4½ year service with the commission. The resignation is effective Sept. 15. The prominent Decatur attorney and former Democrat, state representative has accepted a position in a Washington, D.C. law firm.

Former Secretary of State Michael Howlett owed the largest campaign debt among major 1976 candidates for state office as of June 30, the Illinois Board of Elections' records show. Howlett's bills totaled $235,000, including $16,412 that he owed the state Department of Transportation for the use of charter airplanes from the state's fleet. Howlett raised $3.1 million to campaign against former Gov. Dan Walker in the primary and then against Gov. James R. Thompson in the general election.

Seventy executives on loan from private business will begin a three-month study of expenses in September, Gov. James R. Thompson informed his cabinet Thursday. Gaylord Freeman of the First National Bank of Chicago will serve as chairman. Similar groups in 23 other states have been able to reduce expenses by an average of about three per cent, the governor said.

The U.S. Labor Department said Friday that overall consumer prices rose by four-tenths of one per cent in July, but grocery prices dropped by one-tenth of one per cent, the first decline since November. However, the underlying rate of inflation did not moderate in July and is still rising at a rate above six per cent, a spokesman said.

Police said that Mr. Hladyshevski was operating a motorcycle at 53rd Street and Bunkum Road in Washington Park, when the cycle and a car driven by Moussette collided.

Moussette was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and leaving the scene of an accident. He was arrested in Granite City.

Gary L. Overturn, 18, of 2141 Edison Ave., was charged with criminal damage to property and a 15-year-old girl faces possible juvenile court action in connection with burning a canvas door to a deep Friday.

Virgil Travis, 2145 Edison Ave., called police at 7 a.m. Friday to report someone had removed the canvas door to his vehicle and had placed a lighted cigarette between the seat and door, causing the door to burn slightly.

At 9:30 a.m. Friday, he called police again to say the door had been removed completely and burned in a trash pit near his home. A neighbor said she noticed the burned door in the pit about 7:30 a.m. Friday.

Witnesses identified two youths, alleging they saw them burn the door. The identifications led to the arrests.

Funding for educators' professional development

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and eight other regional institutions of higher education are among the recipients of a W. K. Kellogg Foundation grant designed to further their professional development programs over the next two years.

The regional institutions, which are members of the Regional Council on Institutional Cooperation (CIC), will receive $10,000 of a $348,137 grant awarded to the Kansas City Regional Council for Higher Education (KCRCHE), according to Alfred Junz. He is director of the Foundation Administration Office at SIUE and formerly was executive director of the CIC.

In addition to SIUE, the CIC members are: Belleville Area College, Blackburn College, Greenville College, Lewis and Clark Community College, McKendree College, Parks College of St. Louis University and State Community College of East St. Louis.

Junz said professional development, as the term is used in connection with the Kellogg grant, refers to a variety of means—individual consultation, internships, formal training and retraining, and personal and scholarly activities—which assist teachers and administrators to achieve more effective levels of professional performance.

The grant to KCRCHE will assist 21 groups of colleges and universities across the country, in addition to CIC, to utilize the knowledge gained by four Kellogg-assisted models for professional development.

KCRCHE developed one of the Kellogg-assisted models, with an earlier grant of $202,150 over the period 1974-77.

Other models have been developed by the Cleveland Commission on Higher Education, the Independent Colleges and Universities of Michigan, and the New Hampshire College and University Council.

The grant will provide funds to share with these four groups, have learned and to encourage other clusters of colleges and universities—known as consortiums—to develop their own professional development services.

The Kansas City consortium will provide administrative coordination for the dissemination project.

ASTRO TURF ADDS TEXTURE to the newly-poured 22-foot wide roadway of Maryville Road near Highway 162. The pouring of concrete began Monday and will continue for six days at a rate of 300 to 400 feet per hour. The texturing of the roadway is done before a curing compound is spread on the surface which seals the moisture in the concrete to slow the curing process. If the concrete cures too fast it will become brittle and the possibility of cracking increased. (Photo-Record Photo)

Offer degree plans for adult learners

Almost every discipline at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer classes this fall leading to degree programs for the adult learner. Going back to college after one has "dropped-out" or "stopped-out" for a number of years can be a trying experience. Quad-Cityans report. For this reason, the General Studies Office at the university will offer a mature student workshop, providing information on adult education.

For prospective students who would enjoy taking courses in their own neighborhoods, the Office of Off-Campus Programs offers a variety of programs leading to both undergraduate and graduate degrees, including business, education, social sciences, science, technology, and the humanities. Classes are offered in Illinois at the Greenville, Litchfield, East St. Louis and Scott Air Force Base Resident Centers, as well as at 13 military installations throughout the country.

On the Missouri side, classes leading to the master's degree in education degree with a concentration in counselor education are offered at Parkway North Junior High School in Creve Coeur. Courses leading to the master's degree in education degree with a concentration in organizational (industrial) psychology are offered at the St. Louis Public Library in downtown St. Louis. Classes in the master's of business administration (MBA) program are offered at Westport Plaza.

The number of locations continually changes at the university expands its services to meet identified educational needs wherever they are found. Paul Burns, director of Off-Campus Programs, says.

To keep pace with scientific and technological advances, in the field of health care and medicine, the School of Nursing will offer one, two and three-day workshops, conferences, and mini-courses for nurses in Central and Downstate Illinois who wish to upgrade their nursing education. Nursing courses are taught on several college campuses, in community hospitals, on military bases, at civic centers, and even in area motels. Workshops cover many phases of medicine and health care.

The Open University Program permits those who cannot attend normal classroom sessions to study at home and earn regular college credit. Designed for the beginning student, the program covers two disciplines — the humanities and the sciences.

The School of Education offers classes during the evening or in summer workshops for professionals continuing their education. Programs are offered in early childhood, elementary, physical, secondary and special education, and psychology.

In addition, a program in recreation is available to students interested in becoming recreation directors for public and private agencies.

Workshops for dentists and their support staffs are offered through the SIUE School of Dental Medicine.

Dental professionals from the university and from schools throughout the nation teach general refresher workshops and special courses covering the latest dental techniques. A wide range of classes is offered by the department of art and design, from summer art education workshops for the professional working with handicapped children, to classes in cartooning and the annual cast iron workshop.

Artists from all over the world come to SIUE to teach and study in the artists' colony. Adult students can train for hundreds of careers in the five undergraduate departments of the School of Business.

Along with numerous off-campus, evening and weekend format courses for students in the master's of business administration program, students can also take advantage of the extensive computer facilities at the university, special workshops, and the Professional Experience Program (PEP) which mixes job experience and education. In the School of Science and Technology, careers from medical technology to civil engineering are offered.

A new program, the Women in Science Career Facilitation Project, provides tuition-free training for women who received their degrees from two to 15 years ago and are underemployed, unemployed or need refresher courses.

The Environmental Resources Training Center (ERTC) at the university, one of the first of its kind in the nation, is a training center to serve environmental control operators and technicians.

Its programs provide operator upgrading through development of vocational and technical skills.

One of the newest offerings on campus is the gerontology program. Experts on aging attend workshops sponsored by the program throughout the year.

The gerontology program assists in producing spring and fall senior citizen fairs each year. They provide training, information and entertainment for older Americans in the St. Louis and Illinois areas.

For more information on any of these programs, Quad-Cityans may contact the individual school at the university or telephone the University Information Center at 692-2739.

Most men think about life insurance when they first start a family.

But the older your family gets, the more you need life insurance—and the more life insurance you need.

The cost of living and children's financial needs grow with time. If your wife was suddenly left alone, it would be tough for her to provide for your family.

So if life insurance was a good idea 20 years ago, it's an even better idea to call your Country Companies agent and review your life protection today.

Courthouse area, the "I" has found itself so far away philosophically from what happens there that it can hardly contain its dissatisfaction and contempt. Following are "I" comments voiced Thursday:

"How delicately it was expressed by a Washington, D.C. based consulting firm:

"The exuberance of the county's political processes is unfortunately perceived as extending into the criminal justice system. And criminal justice agencies—especially at the county level—are viewed as unhelpfully sensitive to political considerations.

"Translation: The Madison County crime-fighting system is so bound up in politics that it can't do its job.

"So what else is new?

"This finding by consultants—one of the dismal conclusions reached after a year-long study costing $50,000—comes as no surprise to us.

"We have long asserted that the political threads have become dominant in the fabric of the county social structure.

"The political threads have become so strong, in fact, that they're like ropes, stranding the effectiveness out of county governmental entities from the township level on up.

"It is so. The political processes of Madison County are as exuberant—in the consultant's words—as you'll find most anywhere.

"We are not opposed to politics. It would do no good, in fact. Politics form the atmosphere in which all social institutions, and even individuals, interact.

"Where two or more persons come together, there is no such thing as no politics.

"Systems are inherently political. It does no good to talk of de-politicizing a social institution. The expression is a contradiction in terms.

"What has strangled the law enforcement system of Madison County is not politics, pure and simple, but heavy-handed, single-party, machine-operated patronage politics.

"Madison County politics.

"The implications of the study conducted of the county's criminal justice system are sharply pointed and far-reaching. We will offer commentary on the study in the future.

"But for now, the subject is politics. Madison County style. Law enforcement is not the only social service provided at the county level whose effectiveness is impaired or whose costs—relative to benefits—are inflated by the intrusion of machine politics.

"Far from it.

"As we observed recently—and not since refuted—the dominant political organization of the county extracts a fee from every candidate it endorses for office. And it rarely fails to deliver an election victory in return.

"Moreover, patronage employs by the hundreds, employed by some county officeholders to whom election victories are delivered, pay their dues in the form of a percentage of their pay—the infamous 'lug.'

"Since both the officeholders and the patronage employees are paid with tax dollars, it can fairly be said that the county political power—the same one which is reported to have intruded so harmfully into the law enforcement system of the county—effectively skims off a percentage of the county payroll.

"This political organization, the Madison County

Democratic Central Committee, couldn't prosper if it could reach directly into our wallets.

"Ineffective law enforcement is only an illustration of the costs we pay when a political organization becomes so powerful that it feels responsible to no one.

"In this case, the cost seems inevitable.

"How many millions of dollars per year are lost in theft and property damage in a jurisdiction the size of this county when criminals can feel confident that the police will never track them down?

"How much of a deterrent against crimes of violence is a politically hamstrung law enforcement system?

"How much of our precious public resources are wasted or funneled into the pockets of a favored few because they are placed at the disposal of incompetent or unqualified or unscrupulous officials and their cronies?

"It seems ridiculous that a population, which after all still possesses the powers inherent in the state electoral process, would roll over and accept such political abuse.

"And yet, year after election year, the Madison County population does just that.

"What do we suggest? There is only one solution. The only way to oppose political force is through the development and employment of a superior political force.

"Does this mean vote Republican? Not necessarily. In fact, probably not.

"The Republican party of Madison County has historically offered no reasonable alternative, with a few exceptions, the county GOP has consistently placed before the voters candidates whose incompetence for public office has been exceeded only by their audacity.

"Conditions may change, of course, but there are no strong indications at present that the Republicans will, as a political organization, improve their track record significantly in 1978.

"Some hope effective political change may come about in the Democratic primary of next year.

"Perhaps State Rep. Jim McKel, who defeated the machine two years ago, will remain independent in 1978. Perhaps there are others as well.

"We are not at this time endorsing any of the candidates mentioned.

"We are merely observing that, in view of all that has come to light in recent years, a spot on the machine's ticket ought not to be as valuable as it has been in the past.

"What is needed is an interested and informed electorate, a general feeling on the part of the public that it is up to them to pay the bills for and being pushed around by an abusive political system," the Intelligence concluded.

Approve curb, sidewalk cost

The Granite City Council approved last week a contractor's change order that will add $16,296 to the cost of the new township building at 21st Street and Delmar Avenue.

The action was taken on a recommendation of the Building Committee to which the matter was referred a week earlier.

The change order was submitted for S. M. Wilson Co., contractor on the township building project, to provide for removing old curb and guttering and sidewalks along 21st Street from the alley to Delmar Avenue, and replacing it.

Representation of the curb, guttering and sidewalks was not included in the original contract bid of $639,949.

According to Henry Gabriel, architect for the project, the $16,296, along with $3,085 in previous change orders, brings the total town building cost to $659,329.

Imports

costs, and that this practice has been consistently used by foreign producers in the past whenever necessary to increase their capacity utilization.

(2) That the market share of imports is increasing.

(3) That additional capacity will not be added to supply the U.S. market at these price levels, either by foreign or domestic producers.

(4) That steel demand will grow at least in the early 1980s the likelihood of severe steel shortages in the U.S. will be present.

Trade policies that allow imports to enter the U.S. market today at prices below full costs can foster future shortages of a critical material for the American economy.

This long-term viewpoint must be employed when analyzing current trade issues, the American Iron and Steel Institute and labor groups emphasize.

They say it is important to examine current steel imports at the point of what is good in the long run for the entire American economy, not just what is good for the American steel industry or what may appear to be a bargain for the consumer of steel in 1977.

It is the intent of this series to take such a long perspective. During the last 25 years, there has been a significant shift in the relative share of production among the world's large producing regions.

Whereas in 1950 the United States accounted for more than half of the Free World's steel production, output has since been rapidly overtaken by the U.S. in subsequent years.

By 1976, both Japan and the European Economic Community (EEC) were equal to or larger than the U.S. in total output, and both were growing more rapidly.

International steel trade has played an important role in this shift in the relative importance of the Free World's steel producing regions.

Specifically, although both Japan and Europe have experienced rapid growth in their home markets during the postwar period, both have used steel exports to increase their rate of growth in total output.

In the U.S., by contrast, steel imports have constrained the growth of total output.

During the last 10 years, exports accounted for almost two-thirds of the growth in Japanese output and over one-third of the EEC's growth.

Since the 1959-1960 period when the United States became a net importer of steel products for the first time, imports have captured more than one-third of the growth in U.S. consumption which otherwise would have provided greater expansion opportunities for domestic producers.

The steel exports which have stimulated growth in Japan and Europe are, by and large, the same imports which have constrained growth here.

Japan and the EEC have accounted for over three-quarters of all steel imports into the U.S.

Especially during the late 1960s when the steel industries of both Japan and Europe were experiencing rapid growth, the U.S. market absorbed between one-quarter and one-half of all exports from these areas.

Especially during the late 1960s when the steel industries of both Japan and Europe were experiencing rapid growth, the U.S. market absorbed between one-quarter and one-half of all exports from these areas.

Since 1969, the U.S. has taken a lower percentage of total Japanese and European steel exports but the absolute tonnage has remained high.

Such rapid expansion, in which steel trade flows have played an important role, has enabled foreign producers to substantially narrow the large lead once enjoyed by U.S. steel producers in material and labor efficiency.

By encouraging these trade flows, therefore, U.S. policies have helped foreign steel producers increase the size and efficiency of their operations relative to U.S. producers.

In the process, the U.S. economy has become increasingly dependent on foreign steel suppliers.

In fact, the U.S. has become the only large industrial nation which lacks the capacity to produce 100 percent of its domestic requirement.

While neither of these events—namely the strengthening of steel producers in Japan and Europe and the greater reliance of the U.S. economy on foreign steel sources—is necessarily undesirable, their potential impact on the U.S. economy is said to warrant the careful attention of U.S. policy makers.

The need for closer attention is borne out by the events of the 1973-74 period when, for the first time in history other than during a war, the domestic industry was unable to supply the nation's total steel requirements.

As a result, U.S. customers were forced to pay premiums of $60 per ton or more for imported steel.

And even at these high prices, foreign steel producers gave the U.S. market a lesser priority than their other markets.

For example, import tonnage into the U.S. decreased 15 percent between 1972 and 1973, even though apparent domestic consumption in the U.S. increased almost 16 million tons.

The recent shortage does not appear to be a one-time event. Weak demand worldwide has caused foreign producers to drastically reduce their export rates.

Led by Japan, foreign producers increased their share of the U.S. market to levels approaching 20 percent in the final quarter of 1976.

Thus, it appears that the U.S. may well be experiencing the beginning of another cycle of import penetration which in turn would imply increased reliance on the same sources which proved unreliable in 1973 and 1974.

New ammunition plant is opposed

Calling a proposed new Lone Star Ammunition plant at Texarkana, Tex., a "dinosaur," the Regional Commerce and Growth Association has called for a halt in the Army's plans for constructing the new facility.

The $110,400,000 appropriated by Congress to build the new plant should be returned by the Army, which should then prepare a plan to meet current artillery ammunition needs—including maximum utilization of the St. Louis Army Ammunition Plant, out of production since 1969, RCGA President Harry T. Morley Jr. said.

In a letter to U.S. Rep. William Clay (D-Mo.), Morley said that production requirement estimates used last January to justify construction of the plant in Texarkana became obsolete one month later. The St. Louis plant is in Clay's district.

The Army has revised its ammunition requirements, Morley pointed out, and now needs more XM710 improved conventional rounds than the M-1 rounds which the Lone Star plant was designed to produce. "The Army should set aside its plans to construct the ultra-expensive Lone Star plant and set about the task of determining how the existing St. Louis and National Presto industry plants can be modernized and/or converted to dual purpose XM710-M-1 facilities," Morley said in the letter, copies of which were sent to other members of Congress and to others.

"The Army, spurred by constant pressure from Senator (John) McClellan of Arkansas, apparently has no intention of doing this," Morley said.

He noted that the Army is having an engineering study done to determine how the planned Lone Star plant can be redesigned to produce the XM710 round, using about $2.4 million worth of machinery stored at the St. Louis plant.

A group of legislators, led by Clay and including Sens. Thomas F. Eagleton (D-Mo.), John C. Danforth (R-Mo.) and Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.), has been critical of the plan to build a new ammunition plant, contending that a modernized St. Louis plant and the National Presto plant operating in Eau Claire, Wis., could provide all the Army's ammunition needs. An Army Audit Agency report in April stated that "unless the Army can justify its decision (to build the Lone Star plant) based on other subjective or economic considerations, we believe the Army should reevaluate its decision, before any contractual actions are taken."

Domestic steel, imports both hit peak for year

Domestic finished steel shipments reached their highest level of the year in June—but so did steel imports.

According to the American Iron and Steel Institute, domestic mills shipped 8,811,000 tons in June, an increase of nearly 450,000 tons over May.

However, steel imports also reached a 1977 high of 1,819,000 tons during June, and accounted for 17.4 per cent of the nation's apparent steel supply during the month.

Through the first half of 1977, domestic shipments totaled 47,214,000 tons. Steel imports were 8,060,000 tons during the first six months of this year.

Shipments through the first six months of 1976 reached 46,752,000 tons, while imports totaled 6,382,000 tons.

A breakdown of steel shipments by markets and grades (in net tons) for the first half of 1977 follows:

Market — Automotive, 11,385,000; steel service centers, 7,765,000; construction and contractors' products, 6,106,000; machinery, industrial and electrical equipment, 4,255,000; containers and packaging, 3,671,000; and all other markets, 14,022,000.

Grades shipped — Carbon steel, 42,216,000 tons; stainless steel, 586,000; tool steel, 43,000; and other alloy steel, 4,368,000.

Chappell's golfers to the links next week

RUSS CHAPPELL

Russ Chappell is a familiar name to Granite City sports followers. After all, he was a football coach at Granite City High School before the North-South split.

But now he's doing something a little different.

He's still coaching. But it's a different sport. A much different sport from football, to say the least. Chappell is the head golf coach at Granite City North.

Of course, he has to be a pretty good golfer himself to coach a high school team. But what about the golfers on his team?

"We have a good group of kids out this year," said Chappell. "I have to say kids, you know."

The reason Chappell has to say kids instead of boys is that there is a girl on this year's golf team.

"She hasn't made the varsity yet," he said, "but she's tried real hard and done a good job for us."

Chappell will have a good chance to see how good his golfers are going to be tomorrow, Aug. 23. At that time, there will be a meeting for all people interested in playing on the golf team. The meeting will be at Arlington Golf Course between 3 and 4 p.m.

"This is a meeting to get in touch with anyone who by chance hasn't been able to get in touch with me, and wants to play golf," said Chappell.

The first meet for his team is Tuesday, Aug. 30, against Wood River at Belk Park in Wood River.

"We'll play about three times a week," said Chappell. "Our main meet days will be Wednesdays and Thursdays, but we also have several Tuesday meets planned."

Also planned is a big nine-team invitational meet to be hosted by North at Arlington on Sept. 16.

"We'll have some pretty good golf teams in here," he said. "Teams like Salem and Centralia."

North plays in the Class AA state playoffs in golf. Golf is divided just like basketball for the playoffs—750 and under enrollment is Class A, and over that is Class AA. In fact, every team except one (Lebanon) that North plays is Class AA.

But the state playoffs are a long way off for Russ Chappell and his team. Right now, they have to get organized and then set their sights.

Sports world Players, referees sought for 'Y' fall soccer season

The Y.M.C.A. Soccer Association is now taking registration for both players and referees for the fall season.

Players can be from six to 13 years of age.

There is a special need for boys born in 1970-1971. Also, a new team consisting of nine-year-olds will be formed.

Referees are always in demand in the Soccer Association. Anyone who is qualified will be given an opportunity to referee. Program Director Don Rains said.

For registration or additional information, residents may contact the Tri-City Area YMCA at 876-7200.

Girls' field hockey, volleyball this fall

Practice for girls' field hockey and volleyball will start after the beginning of the school term this Thursday, Aug. 25, at both Granite City North and South.

Girls interested in playing on either of these teams are being asked to turn in a completed physical examination slip and parent permission form to their respective coaches during the first week of school. Practice schedules will be announced at that time.

The first girls' field hockey game is set for the end of September.

The initial girls' volleyball game is slated for the middle of October, although final scheduling has not been completed.

Girls' tennis set at South

Girls' tennis preparations for 1977 got under way this morning at Granite City High School South. An initial meeting was held in the girls' gymnasium at 9.

According to Barbara Kerch, Granite City girls' (and elementary boys') athletic director, formal in-depth practices will be limited until resurfacing of the tennis courts at South is completed.

The number of girls interested will also be a determining factor.

Girls who are interested in playing on the South girls' tennis team but were unable to attend the meeting this morning are to contact the girls' tennis coach, Patricia Yates, at 284-3794.

Slow-pitch tourney in Fairmont City

A men's slow-pitch softball tournament is being sponsored by the Fairmont City Post 96 on Thursday through Sunday in Fairmont City.

The Fairmont City meet will consist of 16 teams. The tourney will start with the first Thursday at 6 p.m. and will end with the championship game at 6 p.m. Sunday.

First prize for the tourney will be a trophy and $55. Second place is worth a trophy and $25.

Play was thus held on a muddy field, but the game could not be postponed because of the regional tournament set for next weekend.

Victory 3rd in state softball

Victory Tavern of Madison finished third in weekend play in the Illinois Class 1A state softball tournament in Decatur. But it wasn't enough.

The top two finishers will advance to next weekend's Illinois-Indiana Regional Tournament in Rockford, Ill. At the beginning of play on Friday, the three Quad-City area teams were still in contention — VFW, Post 1300, the Granite City Athletic Club and Victory Tavern.

VFW was eliminated Friday night 10-6 by Engle Brothers. Victory Tavern left just one team from the area in state play Saturday, by beating GC Athletic Club 13-11.

Wayne and Phil's Tavern from Bartonsville won the tourney, coming out of the loser's bracket to take two straight from the undefeated Wampus Cats of Duplo, 16-4 and 20-13.

Earlier Sunday, Wampus Cats had beaten Wayne and Phil's 24-13 to set the stage for the comeback.

Victory Tavern was eliminated by Wayne and Phil's yesterday, 19-17, thus finishing third in the state. Earlier, they defeated Lou and Denny's Tavern from Tolono, 19-16, and Schmitt's Place from Atkinson, Ill. Schmitt's Place finished fifth.

The Dugout Tavern from Carbondale finished sixth, losing twice. Wayne and Phil's beat Dugout 4-3 on Sunday, and Lou and Denny's the fourth place team, won 14-3, also on Sunday.

Bad weather which struck the Decatur area Sunday hampered the event, causing a delay of four hours in the start of play. The first game was originally scheduled to begin at 10 a.m., but play did not start until 2 p.m.

Two power outages also caused delays one hour to further complicate matters. A truck hit a power pole near the Mercer expels East Alton; oops... Vans still breathing

The East Alton Vans were almost eliminated in two straight games yesterday in the Illinois Inter-City League playoffs at Wilson Park... almost, but not quite. Granite City's Mercer Mortuary looked as if it was going to douse the regular season champions' fire in beating the Vans 5-2 in the opener and Mercer led 3-1 in the bottom of the seventh inning of the second game.

But that's when East Alton found its reserve strength. They came from behind to beat Mercer 4-3 in eight innings on a dropped fly ball by Mercer which allowed the winning run to score.

In the first game, Bob Hughes got the scoring started for Mercer with a solo home run in the second inning off of losing pitcher Stan Hawkins. It was only Hawkins' second defeat this season.

Mercer added runs in the fourth and a single tally in the sixth inning.

Dave Schaake went three-for-four for Mercer; all his hits were singles.

Mercer's Paul Evans went all the way, allowing those two runs on five scattered hits.

In game two, things started out grimly for East Alton. Mercer scored twice in the first inning and added a third run in the second to take a 3-0 lead going into the fourth inning.

East Alton managed to get a run across in the bottom of the fourth, but that was all they could get. Things did not look good for the Vans.

If East Alton wanted to keep things in suspense and wait until the last minute to make things interesting, they succeeded.

They waited until the bottom of the seventh and final inning before they cashed in a little wildness by Mercer's pitcher Jerry Logan to tie the game.

Larry Bedler got things started for the Vans with a basehit. What happened next — it seemed that the strike zone became invisible to Logan.

Four straight walks — to Joe Huff, Steve Boober, Bob Lyons, and Butch Schmidt — allowed East Alton to score two runs to take the game into extra-innings.

The Vans' onslaught continued in the eighth, when they scored a single run to win the game.

Gary Collins went to second on a single and a wild pitch, Larry Bedler walked, and Rick Downer hit a flyball to centerfield which was dropped, allowing Collins to score from second base.

Mike Smith was the winning pitcher for East Alton. He went all the way to take the win.

Logan was the loser for Mercer. He was relieved in that disastrous seventh inning by Kirk Champion.

The final game in the two-out-of-three series will be next Sunday, Aug. 28, at 2 p.m. in Wilson Park. The single game will be nine innings.

Last-lap win for Myers

Willie Johnston led from start to almost-the-finish Saturday at Tri City Speedway, but "close only counts in horseshoes," and Bill Myers glad.

Johnston, from St. Charles, took the lead on the first lap of the 25-lap Late Model "A" feature and held it going into the third turn on the 24th lap. But he went high on the turn allowing Myers of East Alton to pass him and taken the checkered flag.

C.C. Corbin from East Alton finished second with Kenny Shrum, St. Charles, taking third and Russ Wallace, Arnold, Mo., finishing fourth. Johnston eventually finished fifth.

Heat winners in the late model division were Wallace, Corbin, Shrum, and Wib Spalding of Pontoon Beach. Corbin took honors in the handicap race.

In the Sportsman Class, Russ Gibson of Granite City led from start to finish and took the checkered flag in the 15-lap feature.

Dean Aernie of Granite City took second. Pat Walsh from Kirkwood, Mo., finished third with Bill Ried from St. Charles, Mo., taking fourth. Harold Bryan from St. Louis finished in fifth place.

Heat winners were Les Gibson of Granite City, Jerry Zehnle of St. Louis, and Walt Wentzel of St. Louis.

Three persons were injured during the racing program.

Sportsman driver Charles Milam, 32, of 2805 Oregon Ave., was injured when his auto flipped in a heat race and he was treated and x-rayed at St. Elizabeth Hospital for neck pain before he was released.

Two were injured when the late model stock car of Bucky Beasley, St. Charles, burst into flames from a broken fuel line. Beasley got out of the auto without serious injury, but 14-year-old Michael Fogelbach, St. Louis, was injured while fighting the flames.

Fogelbach's trousers legs caught fire and while he was on the ground attempting to extinguish the flames, someone stepped on his left arm, breaking the arm.

He was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for the broken arm and first and second degree burns to his left leg and was transferred at his request to Christian Northeast Hospital, St. Louis.

Another man, who was not identified, injured a wrist and underwent x-rays at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Grant provides 'Y' memberships

Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the Madison County Board, has announced the receipt of $7,820 from the Community Services Administration, a branch of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The funds are utilized by the Edwardsville, Alton, and Granite City YMCA's to provide annual membership primarily to economically disadvantaged children between the ages of 8 and 13.

The Edwardsville YMCA received $1,420, the Alton YMCA received $3,200, and the Granite City YMCA received $3,200. These funds will provide approximately 300 single memberships to Madison County youths.

The program is administered by the Office of Manpower Development which has received the grant for the past four years.

Still have openings in BAC adult courses

Because of openings remaining in seven Belleville Area College extension course, an additional registration period to seek more enrollments will be held in Granite City, it was reported Friday.

The extension office at Granite City South High School said more students still are needed to establish classes in oil painting, GED English and constitution, GED math, refresher shorthand, beginning typing and beginning shorthand.

There are some openings available in other classes, according to Frank Kraus, administrator of the BAC extension courses in Granite City.

Registration will be held today through Thursday from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. daily at the adult education office at South High School. Further information may be obtained by calling 876-7570.

How to get money out of your house without selling it.

You simply come to us for a real estate loan backed by your equity. Equity is the difference between how much your home is worth, and what you owe on it.

It's a valuable asset you can use to back a really big loan. For whatever you have in mind.

Real estate values are up, up, up.

So the house you bought just a few years ago probably would sell for a lot more than you paid.

Which means your equity is bigger. And the bigger your equity, the more you can borrow in a large real estate loan. Right here. Right now.

So the equity in your house is like money in your pocket.

Call us. We've got your loan.

Royal Rangers sets opening meeting

The Rangers of Outpost 73, sponsored by Tri-City Park Tabernacle will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday, at the church to plan programs and activities for the forthcoming year, after a nine week summer vacation.

The opening session will be a father and son night and feature a muzzle loader gun demonstration and a council fire with the Rev. Gordon Nelson to serve as guest speaker. It was announced by Senior Commander Jerry Freeman.

In an effort to arrange interesting and informative programs and other activities for the rangers, a group of 11 leaders met last week to discuss the topics prior to the initial session.

The agenda for tomorrow night's meeting will include tentative plans for three father and son awards banquets, a pow-wow campout, winter campout, Christmas party, chili supper, back packing trip, one day hikes, canoe float trip, pinewood derby race and a camporee, the commander added.

Commander Freeman reports the Outpost has four age groups for boys which includes the Buckaroos (7 to 8 years), Pioneers (9-10 and 11), Trailblazers (12, 13 and 14) and a new group of about 50 boys for the past two years.

Services Wednesday at St. Bartholomew

A special celebration of the Holy Eucharist will be held at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church, 22nd Street and Grand Avenue, on Wednesday, Aug. 24th, beginning at 6:30 p.m. The Rev. Wilbur L. Lear, rector of the parish, announced today.

Father Lear explained that Aug. 24th is the Feast of St. Bartholomew the Apostle and Martyr, the titular and patron saint of the local parish. St. Bartholomew's Church was established in 1800 and named for St. Nathaniel-bar-Ptolomey one of the first followers of Jesus Christ, of which, tradition says, he went from Palestine into India, then Persia and finally into Armenia, where he was killed at Derbend, on the Caspian Sea by order of the King of Albania, by first being flayed alive and then crucified.

Father Lear invites the public to attend the special service at which prayers will be offered for the parish and its people as they move toward the beginning of the fall activities.

Health plan topic at meeting Tuesday

Two portions of an areawide Health System Plan now in process will be discussed at a meeting of the Madison County Local Impact Committee of the Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency on Tuesday, Aug. 23, at 7 p.m. at the Religious Center on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus. The meeting is open to the public. The portions entitled "Health Promotion and Illness Prevention" and "Maternal and Child Health" will be the subject of a discussion led by members of the staff of the Health Systems Agency. Kathleen Rogers and Gail Scyoc of Alton Family Service and Visiting Nurse Association will act as resource persons.

Also on the agenda will be a discussion of the nominating process for membership on the board of directors of the Health Systems Agency. Three consumer positions will fall vacant in October on the governing body for Madison County residents. Nominations close this Friday, Aug. 26. County local impact committees were formed in May to provide an opportunity for ongoing grassroots involvement in the activities of the agency, which serves a region of eight counties plus the City of St. Louis.

The other Illinois counties served in addition to Madison are St. Clair, Monroe and Clinton.

Dr. David Roberson, a dentist practicing in Wood River and a member of the board of directors, is temporary chairman of the Madison County Committee.

Madison County currently has ten members on the 60-member board of directors.

They are Dr. Roberson, David Ault, Ph.D., Ted Eilerman, Patricia Fern, Ph.D., Sally Friedrich, Martha Gauen, James Heil, Eugene Hudson, Lon Smith and Rev. L. C. Suggs. Eilerman is executive president of St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City.

The Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency was designated in April 1976 as the official health planning and resource development agency for the St. Louis metropolitan region. There are about 200 such agencies around the U.S.

The agency's purpose is to improve the health of the area served by developing an areawide plan for health care in the area, based on needs voiced by area citizens and information on their current health status and available health resources.

The first overall health systems plan for the St. Louis metropolitan area will be finished around October of this year, and will be amended each year with an annual plan of implementation.

For further information, Quad-Citians may contact William Miller of SUE at 344-1579 or Virginia Lawton at the Health Systems Agency, 915 Olive St., 314-241-5810.

Handicapped pre-school youngsters being aided

"Tookie", "Tar-Key" and "Tandy" may be an acceptable pronunciation of cookie, car key and candy for a two or three-year-old child. But when a five-year-old boy can't make himself understood, it's a warning that there is something seriously wrong. A non-profit agency, the Hearing and Speech Center, 9512 Manchester Road, has special and group preschool classes which are now being formed for the September-December semester.

Sue Lindstrom, head of the center's Preschool Department, said, "At present only a small percentage of children with speech and language problems are identified at the preschool level. About 85 per cent of children with problems are not identified until the age of nine or ten."

"The old idea of 'wait and see' is rarely good advice. Early identification and treatment of speech and language problems may lessen the likelihood of academic and/or social-emotional problems."

"Early identification and intervention can help curtail the number of children with problems. Their specific needs can be dealt with more effectively if we begin when the child is in his preschool years."

The following are some signs of speech and language problems:

—By age two, the child is not making any sounds, does not attempt to say words and is dependent on gestures.

—Speech is not largely understandable after age three.

—Child does not put words together by age three ("milk" instead of "want milk").

—By age three, the child is unable to follow two-stage commands ("Bring me your shoes and turn off the light").

—By age four, the child cannot talk meaningfully about people, places or activities in his environment.

—The child uses mostly vowel sounds in his speech ("a-a") for "daddy".

—Sentence structure is noticeably faulty. Because the classes are highly individualized, a detailed speech and language evaluation is administered prior to consideration for enrollment. Preschool classes are held at 9512 Manchester, St. Louis County (968-4710), 11900 Berry Hill Road, Bridgeton (731-1688) and the Old University Club, 601 N. Grand—Mid Town (534-4111). There is a tuition fee for all classes, which are held several times a week in the mornings.

In addition, there is parent counseling available to help speech stimulation in the family home. The center annually serves 11,000 people of all ages.

Bicycle fatalities down 25% in state

Bicycle accident fatalities in Illinois dropped 25.8 per cent last year, nearly triple the national average improvement, Alan J. Dixon, secretary of state, announced here Friday.

Dixon referred to figures just issued by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. They showed Illinois fatalities dropped from 58 in 1975 to 43 in 1976. Nationally, bike deaths dropped from 996 to 895, a 9.4 per cent decline.

"No one will ever know how many lives are being saved by educational programs of local government agencies, schools and civic groups, encouraged by the Bicycle Safety Program of our office," said Dixon.

"We conduct day-long regional seminars for representatives of park districts, schools, law enforcement agencies, fraternal and other groups.

"Communities which use this service improve their bicycle safety record. They help instill a lifelong respect for highway laws. Today's safe cyclist is tomorrow's safe motorist," he said.

Text of educational programs is the Bicycle Rules of the Road, issued by the secretary's office. A small pamphlet that will fit into a child's pocket, it emphasizes that cyclists must obey all traffic laws, though they need no operator's license.

Manufacturers expect to sell nearly nine million bicycles in the United States this year, including about 400,000 in Illinois.

According to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Council, bicycle accidents rank first in the frequency of injuries treated in hospital emergency rooms.

Supporting "Bicycle Rules of the Road" as a tool of the secretary of state's safety program are radio and television appearances, news media releases, sports contests and exhibits developed by the Bicycle Safety Program. Copies of the Bicycle Rules of the Road may be obtained by writing to Alan J. Dixon, Secretary of State, Springfield, Ill. 62756.

ST. MARK'S OUTDOOR SHRINE, honoring Our Lady of Fatima, has been refurbished with the repainting of statues, rewiring of lighting and the trimming and shaping of shrubbery. During the late 1940's and through most of the 1950's the shrine was the scene of nine-week novenas during the summer months. The shrine was used Monday evening in conjunction with the celebration of the Mass in observance of a Holy Day and was attended by more than 250 persons. The shrine is located on the grounds of St. Mark Church, Sixth Street and Broadway in Venice. Use of the shrine for the remainder of the summer is under discussion. (Press-Record Photo)

Lewis-Clark Pilgrimage Sept. 17

The annual Lewis and Clark Pilgrimage open to all youth groups will take place Saturday, Sept. 17.

Any group of young people is eligible to participate if accompanied by one adult for each 10 youngsters.

The ninth annual pilgrimage will start at 1 p.m. at the ship-to-shore radio station, located north of the I-270 Chain of Rocks Canal bridge and east of the canal.

From Illinois Highway 3, arrows with the markings "L & C" will direct participants to the assembly area.

Each unit leader will be responsible for the registration of his entire unit at the starting point. Registration will begin at 12 noon and continue until the last group has left on the pilgrimage.

From noon until 1 p.m., Explorer Post 6 Indian dancers will present traditional dances at the registration site.

A short program at Lewis and Clark State Park, near the Hartford Canal, will commemorate the 173rd anniversary of the Lewis and Clark expedition beginning its journey to find the source of the Missouri River and a passage way to the Pacific Ocean.

It was at the location of Lewis and Clark State Park where Captain Meriwether Lewis and Captain William Clark assembled, trained and supplied their men for the 9,000-mile trek prior to the May 1804 departure date. The explorers returned here in September 1806.

The hike to the park and back to the ship-to-shore radio station is a distance of 6½ miles. If they wish, groups may hike only one way (3¼ miles), but must arrange for vehicles to be shuttled from the parking area at the starting point to Lewis and Clark State Park.

The Mitchell Lewis and Clark Pilgrimage, Inc., sponsors of the event, has approval of the National Boy Scout Council as an historical trail. The trail is open from May 15 to Sept. 30.

At the time of registration, each leader will receive a souvenir streamer for the unit flag pole. An embroidered emblem will be sold for $1 to anyone wishing to obtain proof of hiking in the ninth annual pilgrimage.

This year's patch, along with patches for the past two pilgrimages comprise a set and when sewn together show the route Lewis and Clark traveled to find the Pacific Ocean.

Patches from the past two years, costing $1 each, and from earlier hikes will be sold on a first come, first serve basis.

Units are being asked to bring along their U.S. flag, unit flag and patrol and den flags, also carrying belts, if available.

Bearers of the U.S. flags will march at the head of the parade.

Several restaurants are located in towns near Lewis and Clark State Park, or those providing their own sack lunches may enjoy them in picnic style on the levee, the organizers said.

Hot dogs, soft drinks and candy will be sold at the starting point and soft drinks in the park's program area.

Each marcher must provide his own drinking water, it was stressed.

Additional information concerning the pilgrimage may be obtained from Floyd Jordan Jr., 200 Warsaw Lane, Mitchell, or by calling 931-2897.

Jordan said the 10th pilgrimage already is being planned for Sept. 16, 1978, and a special commemorative six-color patch is being designed.

Pontoon dedicates road

The Pontoon Beach Village Board Thursday night accepted and dedicated Jones Park Road as a village street and agreed to accept responsibility for maintaining the 26-foot roadway.

The dedication of the roadway had been delayed several times due to difficulties getting all the residents to sign the plats giving the roadway to the village.

The board also named Police Sergeant Harold Denham as acting chief of police during Chief Rosewell Bennett Jr.'s vacation all this week.

In response to complaints of flooding at the north end of "B" Street in the village, the board voted to authorize the Nameki Township Highway Department to place a catch basin at that location and about 154 feet of 12-inch underground culvert to drain the storm water toward Long Lake. The highway department will be paid for the work from the village's motor fuel tax funds.

Carnival permit granted
Jaycees for MS benefit

Granite City council members last week agreed to permit use of Edison Avenue south of 19th Street for use as a carnival midway by the Granite City Jaycees who plan to stage a three-day Labor Day weekend program.

The Downtown Granite City Promotion Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the Jaycees, requested permission to hold the carnival on 19th Street between State Street and Delmar Avenue, but the aldermen agreed with fire and police authorities that use of 19th Street could hamper movement of fire trucks, police cars or other emergency vehicles.

Council members approved the use of Edison Avenue, south of 19th, and to the location of booths and concessions along 19th Street so long as that street was kept open to traffic.

The carnival is planned Sept. 1, 2 and 3 in conjunction with a "Support Your Local Merchants" campaign. Carnival rides will be furnished by Ray Swears of New Athens.

All proceeds from the carnival will be shared equally between the Illinois Jaycees Children's Camp and the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy fund.

Jerry Gann, president of the Jaycees, said the Jaycees will invite other community organizations to participate in the event with street booths and concessions, and to pledge a share of their receipts to the National Muscular Dystrophy Foundation.

A motorhome, valued at $10,000, belonging to Charles Wood, 1525 St. Clair Ave., was stolen from a driveway between 1 p.m. Friday and 7:25 a.m. Saturday.

Asks place to sleep; gets one for 20 days

A man who came to the Granite City Jail at noon Wednesday asking if he could sleep there was given an opportunity to sleep the next 20 nights in jail, or pay a fine.

Charles A. Thompson, 37, East St. Louis, requested a place to sleep and officers checked and found there were three outstanding warrants for his arrest.

The warrants alleged failure to pay a $60 fine from breaking a window at the home of Jack Teller, 1700 Edison Ave., in 1975, failure to pay a $35 fine from an attempted shoplifting case at Teller Department Stores in June 1976, and failure to pay a $35 fine from the theft of a hammer from Ted's Hardware, also in June 1976.

Associate Judge A. A. Matosian cited Thompson with contempt of court for failure to pay the fines and sentenced him to serve 20 days in the Madison County Jail or pay a $170 fine. He was taken to the county jail at 8:05 p.m. Wednesday.

Childbirth classes at SIUE

Prepared childbirth classes using the Lamaze method will begin Aug. 27 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Classes will be held from Aug. 27 through Oct. 1 for six consecutive Saturdays afternoon from 1 to 3:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of the Tower Lake Commons Building at SIUE.

Classes are sponsored by ABCDVD, a student and community counseling and referral service at SIUE. Joann Blevins, a member of CALM (Community Association for Lamaze Method) who is currently completing her requirements for a master of midwifery, will teach the classes.

According to Linda Todroff of Granite City, a graduate student at the University who is coordinator of the ABCDVD organization, women must be in their third trimester of pregnancy to be eligible for this class. She said instruction will be by the Lamaze or psychoprophylaxis in obstetrics method.

She described the Lamaze method as "a method of childbirth that utilizes education and relaxation to decrease anxiety and fear. "The goal of the program will be a safe delivery both physically and psychologically for baby and parent. Classes will include lessons in normal anatomy and physiology, what pregnancy looks like from the inside, relaxation techniques and breathing exercises. A big part of the sessions is learning how to relax," she said.

Women wishing to take the course are encouraged to bring a partner or coach to help them. The coach can be a husband, boyfriend, mother, sister or a friend.

The only necessities for the course are a blanket or sleeping bag and two pillows.

Registration for the classes is limited. To register or for more information on the course and services provided by ABCDVD, Quad-Cityans may contact the office located in the SIUE University Center, 692-3764.

Sheree Cathey becomes Mrs. James Severine

St. John Lutheran Church was the scene of the wedding on Saturday evening of Miss Sheree Sue Cathey, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cathey, 2952 Iowa St., and James Michael Severine, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Severine, 2327 Zippel Ave.

Brass candelabra, festooned with greenery and white bows, holding burning white tapers were placed on either side of the altar and the white carpeted aisle was illuminated with standards accented with sprigs of greens and white bows.

During the service Joseph Owens played several nuptial selections on the trumpet. The music included "If," "Trumpet Voluntary I" and "Trumpet Voluntary II."

The Rev. Samuel Boda officiated at the double ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white organza gown fashioned with a fitted Empire bodice lavishly enhanced with Venice lace trim which also formed the high neckline to create a gown in the romantic period.

Her sleeveless gown was complemented with a triple caplet worn over her shoulders and extended in the back to the waistline.

Her full skirt fell into soft folds and was bordered at the hemline with a wide flounce trimmed in lace. The cathedral length train was attached at the waistline.

She wore a lace madonna headpiece to secure a melody length veil of bridal illusion, edged with lace. Yellow and apricot roses with stephanotis in lime green and lilac intermingled with tiny blue blossoms and baby's breath, tied with multi color streamers, composed the bridal bouquet. Maid of honor was Miss Brenda Campbell. She wore a maize chiffonette dress designed with an Empire bodice, tiny straps over the shoulders and a narrow cummerbund to accent the full skirt with a flounce at the hemline. A self fabric rose marked the center back waistline and she also wore a matching cape and wide brim hat trimmed with silk flowers.

Bridesmaids Miss Jane Severine, a sister of the groom, Mrs. Michael Wasylenko and Miss Christy Welch were groomed in identical styled dresses in coral, orchid and mint green hues.

They also wore picture hats and each attendant held a colonial bouquet of daisies in pink, red and purple tones interspersed with white baby's breath.

The flower girl, Melissa Kay Kozyak, a cousin of the bride, wore a blue frock. She carried a white basket filled with rose petals topped with small arrangement of variegated color blossoms.

Patrick Neil Cathey, a brother of the bride, served as the ringbearer.

The groom chose his brother, John Severine Jr., as his best man. David Dombek, a cousin of the groom, Steve Burch and Bradford Cathey, the bride's brother, were groomsmen.

Escorting the guests to their seats were Matthew Kozyak and William Chapman, uncles of the bride and groom, respectively.

Tammy Milam, a cousin of the bride, presided over the guest book at a reception given at the Polish Hall in Madison.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the church. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Cathey selected a formal gown in shell pink chiffon worn with a matching caplet and white accessories.

Mrs. Severine, mother of the groom, was also attired in a pink full length dress and she wore white accessories. Both mothers wore pink rosebud corsages.

The couple will reside in the bride, presided over the guest book at a reception given at the Polish Hall in Madison.

Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School. The former Miss Cathey also graduated from the Olin School of Practical Nursing in Alton and is presently employed at the Colonades Nursing Home.

The groom is attending Belleville Area College and is working as an apprentice carpenter for the Fountain Construction Co.

Residents protest Sports field signs

Homeowners residing on Fehling Road and in the Lueders subdivisions are circulating petitions during the weekend to stop the erection of billboards on the fences around the sports complex at South High School and Coolidge Junior High School, which is directly across the street from the homes.

Approval was granted by the Board of Education to the South High School Boosters Club to sell advertising space to local merchants and have the signs painted and installed as a fund-raising project for the club. Proceeds from such programs are used to provide money for various needs at the high school.

The Boosters Club purchased and installed the existing fence and have donated the press box and scoreboards among many other needed sports projects.

According to a report received by the Press-Record the residents feel the billboards will detract from both the fence and the homes in the area. It also was reported two board members were canvassing the area during the weekend to compile a report on the opinions of the residents in relation to the billboards.

A meeting of the Boosters Club is scheduled for tomorrow night at South High School.

Arrested after disturbances

Paul Reagan, 20, who is stationed aboard the USS Coronado, New York City, faces four charges after allegedly being involved in several incidents during the weekend.

Reagan first was arrested after a disturbance at 8:35 p.m. Friday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Shirley Travis, 2708 Kirkpatrick Homes.

Mrs. Travis was taking to police officers when her son allegedly ran from between two buildings and started kicking a door to his mother's home.

Officers wrestled him to the ground and were attempting to handcuff him when his mother allegedly came out of the house and laid across Reagan, preventing officers from placing him in the squad car.

Mrs. Travis also allegedly screamed at officers, using verbal abuse, and pushed at them. She was charged with obstructing a police officer and disorderly conduct.

Reagan was charged with resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

Both were released on bond. Saturday evening, police were called to Steib's Tavern, 2422 Nameoki Road, after a disturbance in which Reagan allegedly was involved.

Diana Meyers, 700 Old Alton Road, alleged Reagan came in the tavern, made accusations to her, struck her with a fist and attempted to choke her. David Schilman, an employee of the tavern, made him leave, it was reported.

Police were told to look for Reagan, but were unable to locate him.

At 8:30 p.m. Sunday, police were called to an auto accident at the home of Silver Pigg Sr., 2440 Ohio Ave., after a car went into Pigg's yard, damaging 100 feet of fence and an evergreen tree.

The driver of the auto, Henry E. Rupinski, 1914 Elizabeth Street, Madison, and Reagan, a passenger, were arrested at the scene.

Rupinski was charged with careless driving. Reagan was charged with two counts of battery, stemming from the tavern incidents.

Illinois decides to resume executing murders—maybe

Almost immediately after the announcement that an Illinoisan has been sentenced to die under the state's new (June 1977) capital punishment law, officials at Stateville Penitentiary near Joliet set up a five-cell "death row." The warden is having an electric chair prepared and it is expected to be in working order by Sept. 1.

A Chicago jury on Aug. 15 recommended execution for William R. Hill and the law requires that the judge abide by the finding when formal sentencing occurs Sept. 15. But all the haste at Stateville is unnecessary, since the appeal process is expected to take two or three years.

Hill was convicted of the "contract" execution of two drug store operators in 1974-75, one of them by mistaken identity. Pictured at the trial as a former security syndicate executioner, the former security guard was said to have paraded in phrases, eating what he thought were mob restaurants and studied a do-it-yourself murder manual.

Whether he is eventually executed appears far from certain because the long passage of time may dim memories of the victims and warm the image of the apparently cold-blooded killer, perhaps leading to some court justification for the desire or ability to carry out an execution since Aug. 24, 1962, when James Dukes was electrocuted for killing a police officer.

5-year licenses will reduce costs, aid law enforcement

Press-Record Springfield Bureau—Illinois car owners will be receiving in the mail applications to renew their current license plate numbers, may be a gentle reminder that an era is quickly passing.

This will be the last year for the annual ritual of applying for single-year license plates and the later mid-winter chore for most of affixing them in the bitter cold.

Next year things will be different. For effective in 1979, Illinois will be joining all but five other states with multi-year auto plates.

We don't doubt that those car owners who enjoy the annual ritual of changing license plates and await the bright new ones with anticipation, will regret the switch.

But people who own cars also pay taxes and the change to the five-year plates will eventually mean substantial savings in the cost of the license plate program. That the state's total cost to issue plates should drop about $21 million over the next five years.

This is because fewer plates will be issued and because of lower mailing, handling and storage costs. There will be other benefits also in the area of law enforcement. The five-year plates will simplify the police job of keeping tabs on registrations.

The yearly deals which motorists will be receiving four out of five years will be less attractive than brand new plates.

But they will be easier to put on and car owners will have the added solace of knowing they won't have to do even that little job in the cold weather. Under the new, staggered basis for re-registering cars the cold months of December, January and February are excluded.

The legislation had bipartisan sponsorship in the legislature, was strongly backed by Democratic Secretary of State Dixon, and was signed into law by Republican Gov. James R. Thompson.

The change was long overdue and represents good judgment on the part of all concerned.

President explains canal plan

Statement by President Jimmy Carter on the proposed Panama Canal treaty being submitted to the U.S. Senate.

For 13 years we have been engaged in negotiations for a new Panama Canal treaty that would strengthen our security interests, be fair to ourselves and the people of Panama, and assure free international use of the Canal in a spirit of cooperation and friendship among all nations in this hemisphere.

In spite of difficulties and even bloodshed, each of my predecessors since President Johnson has decided that this effort must be continued, and I am pleased that it will be completed under my administration.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff and my other principal advisers have been involved in these talks at every stage.

All of us believe these agreements are good for the United States, and that the implementation of the treaties incorporating these agreements is important to our long-term national security.

Under the Canal treaty that will now be prepared, we will have operating control and the right to patrol and defend the Panama Canal until the end of this century.

Under a separate neutrality treaty, we will have the right to assure the maintenance necessary.

Our warships are guaranteed the permanent right to expeditious passage without delay to propulsion or cargo. The treaties will be the foundation for a new cooperative era in our relations with all of Latin America.

As provided by our Constitution, I will seek the advice and consent of the Senate for the ratification of these treaties.

I know each Senator will give the most careful consideration not only to the treaties themselves, but to the positive impact their approval will have in our own country and for our position in the world as a strong and generous nation.

We will work with Panama to assess the need for a sea-level canal and will also cooperate on possible improvements to the existing canal.

I believe these treaties will help to usher in a new day in hemispheric relations.

All the countries in Latin America are joined with us in the conviction that a new treaty which properly responds to Panamanian aspirations and fully preserves our interests will give us an opportunity to work together more effectively toward our common objectives.

Under the new treaties, the U.S. will be able to guarantee the security and defense of the Panama Canal.

The U.S. will have the permanent right to defend the neutrality of the Canal from any threat, for an indefinite period.

U.S. warships will transit the Canal expeditiously and without conditions, for an indefinite period.

For the rest of the century, U.S. military forces will have the primary responsibility to protect and defend the Canal, government of Panama guarantees the U.S. the right to station troops in Panama and to use all lands and waters necessary for the Canal's defense.

The United States will maintain control over all lands, waters and installations—including military bases—necessary to manage, operate and defend the Canal.

A new agency of the U.S. Government will operate the Canal.

This agency, which replaces the Panama Canal Company, will assure U.S. control of the Canal operations for the rest of the century. The Canal will be open to all shipping on a non-discriminatory basis.

On the effective date of the treaty, Panama will assume general territorial jurisdiction over the present Canal Zone.

and may use portions of the operation and defense of the Canal. At the end of 1999, Panama will assume control of the Canal operations.

Difficult financial negotiations have produced a fair and equitable package, which will not involve any Congressional appropriations.

Under the Canal revenues: A share in tolls, 30 cents per Panama Canal ton.

—$10 million per year from tonnage.

—Up to an additional $10 million per year only if Canal traffic and revenues permit.

In addition, the United States has pledged its best efforts, outside the treaty, to arrange for an economic program of loans, loan guarantees and credits.

—Up to $200 million in Export-Import Bank credits.

—Up to $75 million in AID housing guarantees.

A $20 million Overseas Private Investment Corporation (OPIC) loan guarantee.

This five-year package will contain standard "buy American" provisions that will greatly benefit U.S. businesses which invest in and sell goods and services to Panama.

All U.S. civilians currently employed in the Canal can continue in United States government jobs until retirement. They will enjoy the rights and guarantees extended to all U.S. government employees overseas.

The agreement envisions the possibility of building a new sea-level canal. The U.S. and Panama will jointly study its feasibility.

If they agree that such a canal is desirable, they will negotiate the terms for its construction. There will be two treaties:

(1) A treaty guaranteeing the permanent neutrality of the Canal, and (2) a treaty governing the operation and defense of the Canal through Dec. 31, 1999.

Thompson Governing with restraint'

First of three articles by First Monday magazine on the policies, beliefs and goals of Illinois Governor James R. Thompson.

Last Nov. 3, when most of the ballots had been counted from the gubernatorial election, the news was that giant-killing Big Jim Thompson was elected again, only this time at the polls, not in a courtroom.

The former corruption-fighting federal prosecutor had taken on one of the strongest Democratic vote-getters in Illinois history—and soundly whipped him.

Thompson would be the 37th governor of the nation's fourth most populous state.

Political columnists and commentators immediately tagged him as potential timber for the 1980 Republican nomination.

Unknown however, was whether Thompson—his name well established as a tough enemy of miscreant public officials—could make the transition to the governor's mansion in Springfield.

Convincing the corrupt cream of the Cook County Democratic organization—dominated from 1965 until his death earlier this year by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley—is one thing.

Governing a complex state like Illinois is quite another.

James R. Thompson is a product of Chicago's West Side. A fact which would have made Downstate Illinois voters wary of him with suspicion.

But as Illinois' state attorney for Northern Illinois, he had been the grim reaper who ended the "good life" for so many of Daley's raiders—those who used their public positions for personal profit, often at taxpayers' expense.

One of those to fall before Thompson's legal scythe was the late Otto Kerner, a justice of the Illinois Supreme Court who was sitting as a member of the Seventh United States Court of Appeals in Chicago when he was convicted of corruption while he occupied the Springfield mansion.

He was the first sitting federal judge ever to go to jail.

Another convicted was Cook County Clerk Edward J. Barrett, whose power in Chicago Democratic circles preceded Daley's.

He, too, was once held statewide office: Illinois secretary of state.

And then there was Thomas Keane, the state's most powerful member of the Chicago City Council, chairman of its finance committee and Daley's floor leader.

All together, Thompson got grand jury indictments for grand jury tampering, bribery and conspiracy while he was United States attorney from 1971 to 1975—and he got convictions on nearly 90 per cent of them.

Thompson's opponent in the governor's race suffered from all this.

He was Michael Howlett, Illinois secretary of state who earlier had served as Illinois state auditor, popular, jovial, and good administrator.

Years ago, Howlett had fled Chicago for Springfield to escape the onus of the Daley machine, anathema to Downstate voters.

His wayward ally all those years of careful political planning by handpicking Howlett to succeed Thompson.

During campaign, Howlett the very bear he had so studiously sought to avoid.

The winner, Big Jim Thompson, 40 years old and six feet, five inches tall, married for the first time, had a net worth of nearly $14 million votes, the largest gubernatorial majority in state history.

As governor, Thompson inherited a disaster from his predecessor, Democrat Dan Walker.

The state treasury was bare, victimized by Walker's profligate spending.

Walker's government was in a shambles, vandalized by the experienced and highly opinionated politicians who had been during his tenure.

Relations between the governor's office and the legislature were bitterly fought for a cock fight, the result of Walker's heavy-handedness.

There would be six weeks after he took his oath of office before Thompson could get on with his new job.

During that time, he presided over the Illinois Senate, a requirement under the constitution until the Democratic majority selected its leader, who would serve as Senate president.

Through 185 ballots, Democrats argued and voted. Votes were cast for Alice in Wonderland and Mickey Mouse.

The government was paralyzed as Democrats, led by Chicago Mayor Richard Daley, fought a group calling itself "the crazy eight" fought on.

Finally, Thompson

threatened to lock the Senate in continuous session.

On the 185th ballot, a Senate president was elected and Thompson could turn his attention to the job for which the voters had hired him.

How has Thompson fared during the first six months as governor of Illinois?

First Monday went to Springfield to interview Thompson, to get his views on such issues as taxation, energy and the Republican Party.

Q. Governor, unemployment obviously is a major national problem, certainly an issue in a major industrial state like Illinois. What do you feel can be done to combat unemployment?

Thompson: Well, in Illinois we've seen a decline in unemployment, although as far as I'm concerned, unemployment in this state still is unacceptably high.

I'm very leery of measures—either at the federal or state level—which conclude that public works employment is an immediate and a ready answer as an economic stimulus to the problems of unemployment.

In the first place, such programs are temporary in nature.

In the second place, by the time the money gets from Washington back to the local or state level, it usually gets siphoned off somewhere in the bureaucracy or into the political structure.

You find precinct captains on the payroll instead of people who the money was designed to help in the first place.

It contributes nothing except a temporary stimulus to the economy in terms of having more money in people's pockets to spend.

It doesn't create any long-term, lasting employment.

And I may be old-fashioned, but I've always believed that the best way to combat unemployment is to have a business climate which induces business to expand their capital resources and create jobs.

Now that may sound like an over-simplification, but I'd time the money gets from Washington back to the local or state level, it usually gets siphoned off somewhere in the bureaucracy or into the political structure.

Now that may sound like an over-simplification, but I'd time the money gets from Washington back to the local or state level, it usually gets siphoned off somewhere in the bureaucracy or into the political structure.

You find precinct captains on the payroll instead of people who the money was designed to help in the first place.

It contributes nothing except a temporary stimulus to the economy in terms of having more money in people's pockets to spend.

It doesn't create any long-term, lasting employment.

And I may be old-fashioned, but I've always believed that the best way to combat unemployment is to have a business climate which induces business to expand their capital resources and create jobs.

There's only one difference between Illinois and Iowa: Iowa will cost him $90,000 less in the first year because of the difference in the workmen's compensation cost.

But he'd rather come to Illinois. He wants to be here. Why? He has to have him.

He promises 200 new jobs. That's the same promise he made in Pennsylvania 10 years ago and it turned out to be 1,000 new jobs.

Well, now, what do I say to him when I've got him on the phone? I talk about hopes for the future.

I signed a workmen's compensation bill the other day that ameliorated some of the conditions.

I don't think it went far enough, but I believe in one step at a time. I'm a pragmatic person.

But it does boil down to a question of whether or not you can induce confidence in the business community to create jobs that will last, not jobs subject to the whims of Congress or the President or shifts in the national economy.

Street, drainage work progresses

More than $100,000 in Granite City street improvement work is under contract or under way as the result of a contract award by city officials last week and state approval of a stormwater drainage project.

This work is in addition to sidewalk construction work for which a contract is expected to be awarded Tuesday, and construction of the new Lockhaven Drive lift station designed to eliminate problems in the sewer line from the Archer Daniels Midland plant.

Work is expected to get under way this week on the installation of a new 24-inch stormwater drainage line along Wabash Avenue from Manley Avenue to Richmond Avenue, connecting with the catchbasin at Amos Avenue.

A contract for this work at a cost of $28,880 has been awarded to C.D. Peters Construction Co.
The office of Department of Public Works approved the project and an appropriation of motor fuel tax funds last week, clearing the way for starting the project.

A contract also was awarded the Peters Contracting firm last week on a low bid of $41,581 for improvement of St. Clair Avenue from Jill to Dale Avenue.

The work will include installation of new curb and guttering and resurfacing. The contract award will be subject to DOT approval since such street projects are financed with motor fuel tax funds.

The city street department is now applying an oil and rock surface to 13th Street between Granite and McCasland avenues to complete the improvement of that section.

Curb and guttering were installed under a $23,000 contract by the Peters construction firm, with the surfacing applied by street department workers.

The city engineering department has called bids for Tuesday for construction of sidewalks in the 2900 block of Pershing Boulevard where curb and gutter construction also was done under contract.

City Engineer Monroe
Brown told City Council members that delay in undertaking the sidewalk project planning that phase as a separate job, which required separate applications to the DOT.

The grade of Pershing
Boulevard was cut well below the sidewalks when the street was improved. The engineering department said that new sidewalks will be lowered to a point within eight inches of the top of the curb.

Work of constructing the new Lockhaven lift station is being done by the G.H. Sternberg Co.

at a cost of $28,000. Cost of the new station will be borne by the ADM firm as part of the sewer system built by ADM several years ago.

Because of the heavy texture of sewage from the ADM plant, the pumps at the old lift station were unable to handle the flow, and ADM agreed to replace the lift station.

Brewer said the old lift station will not be dismantled, but will be left instead to serve as an additional catchbasin.

Granite Trust Bank
students honored
Robert Hildebrand, vice-president of the trust department, and William Lambert of the loan department of Granite City Trust & Savings Bank, were honored at the annual enrollment and awards dinner of the American Institute of Banking in St. Louis Tuesday night.

Lambert received his basic certificate and was adjudged the outstanding student in the money and banking class.
Hildebrand received his basic certificate, the fifth he has been awarded by the American Institute of Banking.

The program was held in the Mayan room of the Bel Air
Hotel, St. Louis.
